

Onsite Clinician Mentoring

with Georgia Tetlow, MD, Founder, Philadelphia Integrative Medicine and Bravewell Collaborative Integrative Medicine facilitator and mentor

As founder and CEO of Philadelphia Integrative Medicine, I offer on-site intensive mentorship experiences to integrative physicians and all allied integrative professionals transitioning to integrative practice. Are you ready for a great life? Ready for more control, and to design your practice around your patients/clients and your own quality of life? It can take 6 months to 3 years or longer to establish and build a healthy integrative practice. It can take even longer to find personal balance as an integrative business owner, something that most never achieve. If you don't have that extra time, and don't want to sacrifice yourself or your sanity in the process, I offer the resources you need for your transition to a successful integrative practice on every level.

I invite you to my clinic to practice applying integrative medicine in action, so you can see the blueprint of your own practice, and know the steps, time line and self-care know-how to get you to your dream. I address most clinical applications of integrative medicine, including pediatric, and primary care and tailor the program according to specialty. MD, DO, ND, NP, PA and all allied integrative professionals welcome, at any stage of transition to integrative practice.

We offer dynamic exposure to a well-run, successful fee-for-service integrative medicine clinic:

- Integrative management of digestive, autoimmune, cancer-related, musculoskeletal, pain and all forms of chronic illness
- LLC status with medical licensing, tax structures, malpractice, legal integrative intake and consent forms, etc.
